DETAILED ACTION

This application filed January 28, 2004, claims benefit of 60/443,619, filed January 29, 2003.

Applicants amendment filed August 19, 2004 has been received and entered. Claims 7-10, 31-35 have been amended. Claims 1-65 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-26, drawn to a Lactobacillus bacterium comprising an expression cassette that encodes in the following order; a cell wall associated sequence, LPQ(S/A/T)(G/A) and a hydrophobic sequence, classified in class 435, subclass 252.1.
- II. Claims 27-63, drawn to a method of expressing a biologically active polypeptide comprising providing a lactobacillus bacterium comprising an expression cassette that encodes in the following order; a cell wall associated sequence, LPQ(S/A/T)(G/A) and a hydrophobic sequence, and culturing the bacterium under conditions to induce the expression of the biological active polypeptide, classified in class 435, subclass 69.1.
- III. Claims 64-65, drawn to an expression cassette comprising a promoter operatively linked to a sequence that encodes a signal sequence linked to SEQ ID NO: 7 or SEQ ID NO: 8, classified in class 536, subclass 23.4.

Art Unit: 1632

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the product can be used in methods of delivery, and the process of making a protein can be practiced with other bacterium or Lactobacillus.

Inventions I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions the Lactobacillus of group I contains a materially different expression cassette.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: species of biologically active polypeptides/genes of interest are recited in the claims (and specification. If any one of the groups is elected, a further election of species of a specific protein to be expressed must be elected. For example, group I recites specific proteins-claims 20-22, 24, and group III recites specific SEQ ID NOs (though this may a targeting sequence in light of claims 11-12 and the specification).

The species are independent or distinct because each sequence requires a separate search as materially different products, and consideration with respect to the metes and bounds of biologically active..

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, all claims that fail to recite a specific species in each group are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
